Introduction

Working at Goodwill Medical Centre (GMC) has been more than just a job for us, it's been a journey of purpose, service, and transformation. From the moment GMC opened its doors, our mission has been clear: to provide quality healthcare services for all, especially the poor and underserved. Every day, we see this mission come alive through the compassion, teamwork, resilience of our staff, support from the government and encouragement from the Management. It has been really an awesome experience for us all.

In today's world, quality healthcare is measured not only by medical outcomes but also by accessibility and financial sustainability.

GMC's vision of building a world where people unite to address healthcare challenges is what drives us. We are not just treating illnesses; we are rebuilding hope in communities that were once cut off from basic medical care. For many families in Amechi, ifoo, Harmony layout and the surrounding communities. GMC is not just a hospital, it is a lifeline.

The construction of the Avah River Bridge stands out as a symbol of what GMC represents; connecting people not only to healthcare, but also to opportunity, safety, and dignity. GMC has successfully introduced a very beautiful and interesting program; the CEmOC (Comprehensive Emergency Obstetric Care) program, which has significantly helped reduce maternal and fetal deaths within our community where emergency obstetric cases are treated urgently without requesting for any payment. GMC has also partnered with the Enugu State Agency for Universal Health Coverage (ESAUHC) to extend care to the less privileged, ensuring that no one is denied treatment because of financial challenges.

Working in an environment where both professional excellence and compassion are valued has inspired us to grow personally and professionally. The teamwork among our doctors, nurses, laboratory scientists, and support staff shows that when people share a vision, incredible things happen.

Mission and Vision

Since inception, GMC has remained committed to providing quality healthcare, especially for underserved populations. Our vision is to create a world where communities unite to overcome healthcare challenges, rebuilding hope where access to care was once limited. For families in Umuchigbo, Amechi, Ifoo, Harmony Layout, Eneme, Amorji, Abakpa, and surrounding communities, GMC is more than a hospital—it is a lifeline.

Notable Achievements

GMC's commitment to community-centered healthcare is evident through several transformative initiatives:

- The Smiles and quiet expressions of joy that reflects the deep gratitude our Patients feel after receiving free medical care provided is indeed a very great achievement.
- Avah River Bridge Construction: Enhanced access to essential health services for previously underserved populations.

- Comprehensive Emergency Obstetric Care (CEmOC) Program: Life-saving initiative reducing maternal and fetal mortality. Over ten mothers have undergone safe Caesarean deliveries without paying upfront fees, reflecting GMC's dedication to equitable care.
- Partnership with ESAUHC: Strengthened access to healthcare for vulnerable and economically disadvantaged groups.

Through these programs, over 7,500 patients have received comprehensive care from children recovering from preventable illnesses to elderly individuals finding relief from chronic pain. Each success underscores GMC's unwavering commitment to community health and well-being.

Future Vision

- Looking ahead, our expectation for GMC in the next five years is that it becomes a regional model for affordable and quality healthcare.
- We envision Goodwill Medical Centre evolving from manual documentation systems to streamlined digital operations that prioritize speed, accuracy, and accountability.
- Equipped with advanced diagnostic tools and expanded wards.
- Training institute for young healthcare professionals. GMC will evolve into a learning institution with its own College of Nursing Science, dedicated to training the younger generation to render healthcare with empathy, compassion, and professionalism.
- Furthermore, GMC in the future will evolve into a fully digitized, data-driven hub that optimizes operational efficiency and patient satisfaction.
- Expanding financial literacy and patient education programs.
- Strengthening collaborations with government health agencies, private insurers, and nonprofit health organizations.
